FREE Working Well Together Event: Back to Basics

As part of the on-going drive to improve standards and reduce the threat to the safety of workers in the construction industry, the Working Well Together (WWT) group, supported by the Health and Safety Executive, is holding a free, half-day event. The aim of the event is to raise awareness on basic safety matters in construction activities.

If you are a self-employed builder or run/manage a small construction company, this free half-day event is a must. This event will provide you with practical advice to help you get to grips with health and safety on site and help bring you up to date with current health and safety regulations.
