In memory of David Hughes

It is with a great deal of sadness that we announce the passing of David Hughes, a BHSEA Stalwart.

As a key member of BHSEA for more than 37 years, David will be sadly missed.

In addition to his long-standing Management Role, David has held Honorary Officer roles on several occasions including

- Vice Chair 2000/2001
- Chair 2002/2003
- Vice Chair 2016 - 2022

David's contribution, whether it be face-to-face, via telephone or email, was always considered, thoughtful, well received and respected.

In addition, David played a key role in welcoming, and on occasion mentoring new members including new Council Members.

RIDDOR Updates

The HSE has released updates to guidance to help organisations to understand how and when to submit a report under the Reporting of Injuries, Diseases and Dangerous Occurrences Regulations (RIDDOR).

Although the improvements, based on feedback from stakeholders, do not include any changes to legal requirements, the updates include more direct links to guidance on types of reportable incidents to help you decide whether a report is required, as well as improved guidance on who should and should not report under RIDDOR.

The guidance also details what is meant by a 'work-related' accident, information on when an occupational disease is not reportable, and increased clarity on when an 'over-7-day' absence should be reported.

The safety regulator for Great Britain has also made changes to the reporting forms:

- questions about severity of injuries have been front-loaded to help you quickly decide if your incident is reportable
- pop-up messages now redirect you if the incident is not reportable
- guidance has been improved to make the forms easier to use
- injured or affected people now have increased number of options when completing the gender field.

FREE Webinar

Mastering Food Safety Management, on the 19th of June at 11 am

https://pages.croneri.co.uk/WEB-19-06-2024_3367_Registration-BSA.html

Everyone who works with food has a responsibility to protect the health and wellbeing of consumers and end-users by safeguarding that food from anything that could cause harm. Food safety covers good hygiene practices for handling food, including personal hygiene, cleaning and disinfection, preventing cross-contamination, temperature control and dealing with allergies.

What will I learn?

The four food hazards

- Responsibilities of a food handler
- How to ensure food safety
- Steps to protect food from contamination
- What can be done to prevent allergic reactions

Membership Referral Scheme

This week we are re-launching our successful Membership Referral Scheme for 2024.

You can now refer a Company or individual to be a member of BHSEA and potentially win a £150 Amazon voucher in our Prize Draw*.

HOW THE REFERRAL SCHEME WORKS?

Any new members joining by 30 September, who record the person that recommended them to join, will automatically be entered into a Membership Referral Free Prize Draw* to win a £150 Amazon Gift Voucher.

The more you refer new members, the more times your name will appear in the prize draw, and the better chance of winning!

FREE BHSEA Training – Consultation

If you have ever said one or more of the statements below, then this is a session for you. And, even if you have never uttered those words, but perhaps thought them even for a few seconds, then again, this could be a good morning well spent discussing problems and solutions with your peers.

1. Consultation is a waste of time!
2. We talk about the same old rubbish every meeting!
3. Nothing ever changes after we spend hours talking about stuff!
4. We are a small business we do not have to have consultation!

When: 9th September 2024

Where: Walsall FC -1888 Suite
